

OPENING REMARKS

CLAIR KURIAKOSE, MBA, PA-C, FACHE

Executive Director for Advanced Practice, Stanford Health Care

BIOGRAPHY

Clair Kuriakose is a Plastic Surgery Physician Assistant who graduated from New York's Saint John's University's PA Program.

Clair has an MBA from University of Houston, Bauer College of Business and is a Fellow of the American College of Healthcare Executives. In addition, she is specialized in performance improvement and has a Black Belt in Lean Six Sigma.

She is the Executive Director of Advanced Practice at Stanford Medicine where she leads strategy for over 700 APPs. Clair is also a Clinical Assistant Professor with Stanford School of Medicine where she supports the healthcare administration thesis for the Stanford Physician Assistant Program. Most recently, Clair was named by Modern Healthcare as a Top 25 Emerging Leaders in 2021.

Clair is passionate about the value advanced practice providers bring to the complex and ever-changing healthcare industry and truly enjoys collaborating with the various Advanced Practice Providers in the organization to ensure the best care for our patients.